Troop News & Notes, Here & Elsewhere

Just Talks With Scouts

Conducted By Mabel Putnam Chilson

The first troop to be visited by Commissioner Roger Burnham was Troop VII, at Kakaako last evening. Although the number of scouts present was not large, those who were there made up in enthusiasm for what they lost in numbers. Interest in the commissioner's speech was great, the scouts taking seriously all that he said, especially with regard to the ideal of the scout. He told them that the idea of scouting is not to exceed in contest, necessarily, but to do the good turn with love in the heart and real friendliness toward all. It is not only on account of the motto, but on account of love for the good itself, that good turns should be done.

Troop VII made a good impression on Mr. Burnham, also, singing for him with all their hearts, and promising to live up to the ideals that scouting stands for. Refreshments were served, making quite a little celebration over the new commissioner.

It is not going to be an easy matter hereafter for merit badges to be obtained. At National Headquarters it has been requested that Courts of Honor hold a sort of second test of the merit badge applicant, even after he has qualified to the satisfaction of his examiners. This means that the scout in this area who qualifies for a certain merit badge must go before the scoutmaster in a body (the new Court of Honor) and satisfy them before receiving his badge.

At present this Court of Honor is examination all boys for tenderfoot, second or first-class scouts. They meet as often as they can.

Troop XIX of Mollili now has 18 members and holds regular weekly meetings.

The scribe of Troop VIII writes that the meeting of July 7 was taken up with drilling, after which the scouts were assigned parts in a play they expect to give soon. He says that Scoutmaster Pennington is certainly faithful to the organization and speaks of him as having been "someone's jolly tempter." The names of a troop committee just formed, will be mentioned at a later date. A Randall was sworn in as first-class scout.

At the Ad Club luncheon yesterday, when Commissioner Burnham was given a special ovation, several scouts accompanied the guest of honor, short but impressive ceremonies being held. Two buglers were present, giving a picturesque touch to the scene.

The scribe of Troop V sends in the following notice:

"The members of Troop V are requested to be present at the coming meeting on Friday evening. Our new commissioner, Mr. Burnham, will be there to visit the troop.

SOLOMON TYAU,
Troop Scribe.

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY,
WILLIAM G. MCADOO, ASKS BOY SCOUTS TO AID LIBERTY LOAN

Mr. McAdoo sent the following message to the Boy Scouts of America: "Every boy scout can help his country win the war by carrying into each home the message that every man and woman should buy a Liberty Bond. I earnestly urge that you gather in the applications for the Liberty Loan as promptly as possible. Your country needs them all, and each scout can perform a great service of patriotism by carrying on this work. You are

PRESIDENT WILSON SCORES OWNERS OF SHIPS FOR INCREASING RATES

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—President Wilson yesterday issued a strong appeal to the patriotism of the country, to the corporate interests as well as to the individual citizen and the general public urging them one and all to put aside all selfishness and to give to the country the aid which it lies in their power to give just as freely and as courageously as will the fighters who are being drafted and trained to meet and defeat the autocratic Prussians. This came in the form of a statement which the president addressed to coal operators and manufacturers, insisting that they shall adjust their prices and make them fair and just to the government and to the consumer generally and warning them that rapacity and any attempts at extortion simply will not be tolerated by the United States government.

In his statement the president said that the action of shipowners who have raised freight rates to unbearably high figures was to be condemned without measure for "they have taken the most effective means in their power to encompass the defeat of the armies that are engaged against Germany."

The president gives no details of exorbitant charges having been made, nor does he specifically mention any corporations or individuals, nor say what prices have been affected in particular, but makes his appeal in general terms to the whole nation.

STANDARDS FOR ARMY CUT BY DEPARTMENT

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—Small men are to be received in the army. The war department has revised the requirements relative to the minimum size and weight of men and so announced last night.

The new minimum height for men to serve in the army has been fixed at five feet, one inch, and the minimum weight correspondingly reduced to one hundred and ten pounds, thus greatly extending the leeway for small men who may be accepted after the draft despite their small stature.

SHIPPERS MUST GET O. K. FOR EXPORT CARGOES

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—Licensing of cargoes under the espionage law was begun by the department of commerce yesterday. All shipments leaving this country after July 15 are affected by the law and the applications received yesterday were for permission to make shipments which will depart next week.

Under the new espionage law the control of certain shipments is placed in the department of commerce, which has the power to hear and determine all facts in each case and whether the shipments for which permission is sought shall be permitted. In this way trading with the enemy is intended to be effectively prevented.

COPPER KING TO SERVE ON WAR RELIEF BODY

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—John D. Ryan, president of the Anaconda Copper Company, one of the great mining corporations of the world, has had his offer to serve the Red Cross in any executive capacity accepted and he will now become the head of the military relief committee of that organization.

He succeeds Col. Jefferson R. Kean, U. S. A., medical corps, who has been detached from the surgeon general's department and is serving with the Red Cross. Colonel Kean has now been recalled and will be detailed to France, to command one hundred and sixty ambulance sections in the war theater.

SUBMARINE TERROR MAY BE LOSING ITS STING

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

LONDON, Eng., July 12.—Only two-thirds of one per cent of the vessels entering and clearing from British ports for the week ending yesterday were attacked in the war zone by German submarines, and of these nearly one-half either beat off the attacking U-boats with their guns or effected an escape otherwise. The number of vessels sunk during the week was well under the average of the past two months, being the lowest of any week except one since unrestricted sinking became the German program.

In all, 5696 vessels, exclusive of fishing boats, traversed the British waters during the week, 2798 arriving at British ports and 2798 clearing. Of these, twenty-one were sunk by submarines, fourteen over 1600 tons and three smaller crafts. Seventeen others were attacked, but escaped. Seven fishing smacks were also among the destroyed shipping.

DRAWING OF DRAFT IS POSTPONED FOR WEEK

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—The official drawing for the draft, which was supposed to take place on Saturday, will probably now not be held until a week later. The war department is all ready to proceed, but in many places the local exemption boards are not yet organized in such a way as to handle the work before them.

Claims for exemption from service under the terms of the selective draft act may be made on behalf of any who may be drafted by any member of his family, or even by a third party who may have information to lay before the exemption boards as to why the person drafted should not be received into the national service.

This explanation was made yesterday by Provost Marshal Crowder, in response to requests for further explanations of the exemption clauses of the act. It is explained that some who should be exempted may not present their claims, preferring not to appear in the slightest as slackers while to call them to the colors would be to leave dependent relatives or to prevent essential work for the government being performed.

In such cases as these, says the provost marshal, the claims for exemption may be made by others than the ones drafted, even against the consent of the drafted ones.
